Meet the Sea Monkeys—

By Carrie Fisher
News-Ledger Correspondent

These are exciting times for River City High School's jazz band, better known as "The Syncopating Sea Monkeys."

As they gear up for their 12th consecutive year performing for the Sacramento Jazz Festival this Memorial Day weekend, the Sea Monkeys are enjoying brand-new facilities at the high school's new campus, including nice new lockers and three practice rooms. The band continues to be in high demand for performances at both school functions and community events, and is also looking forward to a very important fundraiser on May 16 – the seventh annual "Jazz Night Out" – which it hopes will help raise funds needed for its student musicians to attend the Sacramento Traditional Jazz Society's Youth Jazz Camp this summer at Sly Park.

Taught by River City Music Director Felicia Greenwood, the Sea Monkeys are one of very few traditional jazz classes in the country, in that all playing parts are entirely improvised as opposed to written out. Because Greenwood's program is unique, she has been called upon by other local districts to help implement similar classes in their schools, including Rio Americano High School. The class has become extremely popular on campus in recent years, with more students seeking out the jazz program. A whopping 28 students signed up for the class this year.

Greenwood is particularly fond of this group of talented and dedicated musicians, and is also proud of the band's very active alumni, many of whom have gone on to become professional musicians and come back to the school regularly to work with the students in the band. "One of the best things about this band is its strong family atmosphere," she says. "There's lots of sharing and bonding going on – lots of reaching out among both current students and alumni."

Andrew Russell, a senior who has played bass guitar with the Sea Monkeys since his freshman year, describes the band as not just a class but a community that "offers its members a departure from regular high school life into a world of professional musicianship, improvisation, and close-knit friendships."

The band members are especially excited about the chance to participate in the Sacramento Trad Jazz Camp, created in 1985 by the The Sacramento Traditional Jazz Society with the goal of pairing young, aspiring jazz musicians from all over the country with professional faculty for individualized instruction and mentoring. It is this very camp that

The band offers 'a departure from regular high school life into a world of professional musicianship,' said bass player Andrew Russell motivated Greenwood to become a music teacher, and the students in her class who have had the privilege of attending previous sessions have been equally inspired.

Jordyn Wright, a sophomore who is in his first year of jazz band, playing trumpet, was able to attend the Trad Jazz Camp last year and was amazed by the "extreme mentoring" he received there, including one-on-one sessions with four respected trumpet teachers, one of whom was a player in Disneyland's Dixieland Band.

Ethan Farnworth, a trombone player for the Sea Monkeys and another sophomore, hopes this summer will mark his third year at jazz camp. "Not only do you learn so much working with professional jazz musicians and receiving instruction on your particular instrument," he says, "but you make a lot of friends and valuable contacts, too."

The band is asking for the community's help in sending the student musicians to camp again this year. Join them on Saturday, May 16, for "Jazz Night Out," from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at the Arts Center Building on the new River City High School campus, and will include a live performance by the Syncopating Sea Monkeys, refreshments, and a silent auction featuring some terrific donated items from local businesses and individuals. The cost of tickets is $10.00 general admission and $7.00 for students ages 8 to 17. Tickets may be purchased online by visiting the band's website at <http://seamonkeyjazz.org>.

Yolo County tightens its belt a few notches

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Mike McGowan is in his 17th year as a Yolo County supervisor. Before that, he spent six years on West Sacramento's city council. How does this recession stack up against others he's seen?

"This is by far and away the worst I've ever seen it," said McGowan, after a board of supervisors meeting yesterday in which the board pondered a shortfall of around $24 million for the next fiscal year.

The county is caught between a rock and a hard place by the state, he told the News-Ledger.

"We're an 'arm of the state' and we have state mandates to provide certain services," he said. "That includes welfare and welfare programs, adult protective services, food stamps, indigent health programs, mental health, probation, the district attorney's office, sheriff's department, county libraries, the public defender's office – the list goes on and on. We're required to provide those services, but we're given less money to do so."

So in many cases, Yolo County will have to do its job with fewer personnel on the payroll.

"For example, in child protective services, there will be cuts in that department," said McGowan. "And that means each caseworker has more work to do, and I believe that will mean that the quality of service will start to suffer."

How many layoffs will the county make?

"We started out estimating about 111 people who were going to lose their job," said McGowan, a West Sacramento resident. "That number is changing. To their credit, many of our labor groups – unions – are working with us to make voluntary sacrifices of wages and benefits, and to take

MICHAEL MCGOWAN
Chairman of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors, and representative for the First District, including West Sacramento & Clarksburg furloughs, that kind of thing."

The county has also given financial incentives to some of its people to retire early – saving money, but costing the workforce "a bunch of our wisdom and institutional knowledge which is going out the door."

The supervisors themselves have agreed to forego any pay raise this year, even if it becomes scheduled (the supervisors' pay is set at a percentage of that given to Yolo's judges). Supervisors and managers will also be taking unpaid "furloughs," or leaves of absence, to save money.

Yolo County: not 'swine flu' after all

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The Yolo County Health Department announced last week that two Yolo residents – including a student at a Davis middle school – had "probable" cases of "swine flu."

The tentative diagnosis led to an order to close Holmes Middle School in Davis this week. That's where the student went to school. The move was intended to clamp down on the possible spread of the "H1N1" influenza, or "swine flu."

But the order was rescinded and the school opened Monday as usual, after the county received new test results. The two Yolo patients were determined to have a more conventional form of influenza, "human influenza A," instead of "swine flu," reported the county's health officer. The test results came in late Saturday night from the Sacramento Public Health Laboratory.

"This is good news for the two individuals who have been ill," said Dr. Joseph Iser, Yolo County Health Officer, in a press release, "and I have approved Holmes being open for student attendance as early as (Monday)."

The county health department had reacted quickly to the possible "swine flu" cases.

"With a novel virus, we want to prevent the transmission as quickly as possible," he said. "Closing a school early with a possible case is important in making this happen."

The health department said that America is expected to see more cases of H1N1 ("swine flu") influenza. Symptoms are similar to those of "regular seasonal flu" and include fever, cough, sore throat, body aches, headache, chills and fatigue. Some victims have also experienced diarrhea and vomiting.

Anyone who experiences more than mild flu symptoms – especially if they have traveled to Mexico, where the bug seems to have started – is urged to call their health provider for advice. Anyone with severe symptoms, including difficulty breathing, should seek immediate medical care."

Flu is spread by direct contact – by uncovered coughs and sneezing, or by touching something after an infected person has touched it.

"Washing your hands frequently, sneezing and coughing into a tissue or your sleeve, and staying home when you are sick are important steps individuals can take to stop the spread of disease."

For more information on H1N1 influenza, visit www.cdc.gov/h1n1flu.

Get rid of that old furniture, those mattresses and tires —

Scoring points with my mom on Mother's Day

With Mother's Day just around the corner, here is a little Mother's Day column I wrote many years ago about my own mother, Frances Jean Fisher (she will slug you if you call her Frances instead of Jean), who, along with my father, Bob, lived in West Sacramento for almost half-a-century. They moved here right after World War II, bought what was then a brand new little tract house on Michigan Boulevard (if I remember right, it cost less than $10,000) and began raising the family they had always wanted. And since being a good mother has always been the most important thing in my mom's life, here is a little top-ten list of some of the reasons why she is so special:

#10: I have always had a head the size of a bowling ball, so I guess it's fair to say that even from the very beginning, I have been a real pain to my mother, yet she continues to put up with me.

#9: When I was three years old, long before there were seatbelts and safety locks on car doors, I fell out of the backseat of my parents' car (although I still think I was pushed out by my twin sister, Cheryl, even if I have never been able to prove it beyond a reasonable doubt), which was going about 60 mph on the freeway. Thankfully, I landed on my big hard head, bounced off the asphalt a few times, and ended up in a ditch. But it was my poor mother who had to police up what was left of me and hold my bloody, unconscious head in her lap as my

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

dad raced for the nearest hospital.

#8: When I was a teenager, it was always my mother who waited up for me to get home, no matter how late I dragged in from a date or a night out on the town with my West Sac friends, refusing to go to sleep until I was safely in the house.

#7: It was mom who always used up all her spare money each year picking out new school clothes for me and my sister and younger brother, never buying anything new for herself.

#6: It was my mother who had to open up and read the telegram from the United States Army notifying her that I had been wounded in Vietnam, thinking all the time that such a telegram meant – as it had in World War Two when my father was overseas serving his country – that her son was dead.

#5: It was mom who had to wait patiently until I was almost 27 before I finally got married and forked over (with some help from my wife, of course) one of the few things she had ever wanted for herself – a granddaughter.

#4: It's my mother who digs deep into her savings account each year to make absolutely sure all of her kids, grandkids, and great-grandkids have a wonderful Christmas.

#3: It's mom who always works so hard at all the family gatherings, especially Thanksgiving, making sure there are more good things to eat than anyone could possibly digest, especially her incredibly yummy homemade apple, lemon and berry pies.

#2: It was my mom who taught me how to properly interact with other people, always telling me and my brother, "If you two are determined to kill each other, please do it outside, because your father and I can't afford to buy a bunch of new furniture."

#1: And the number one reason my mom is so special is that she somehow managed to put up with my father for more than 75 years (they first met when they were in grade school together in a little rural town in Southern Missouri), therefore making it possible for this huge Fisher clan to have all made it into the world.

Finally, the other evening, I was talking to a friend who, like me, has a mom that has always put being the best possible mother she can be at the very top of her list of priorities, when the subject of Mother's Day came up.

"Are you going to do anything special this year for Mother's Day?" he asked me.

"No, not really," I admitted. "But my wife did send my mother a really nice card."

"My mom loves to get a card on Mother's Day, too," said my friend. "She used to always tell me and my brothers that 'When you are all grown up and on your own, I just hope I will have done a good enough job for all of you to want to send me a nice card on Mother's Day – and actually mean what it says on the inside.'"

So, Mom, since I don't have the foggiest idea what was written on the inside of that darn Mother's Day card Mary mailed to you a few days ago, this little column about what a great mother you have always been will have to do. And the next time I do something inconsiderate (and we both know you won't have to wait too long), just remember that like all really special mothers, you were always there when I needed you, and there were even times when you were the only wind under my wings.

SPORTS

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

It was a wild "Cinco de Mayo" weekend in the world of sports starting with the 50-1 long shot victory by "Mine That Bird" at Churchill Downs and the surprising second round demolition of Ricky Hatton, by the Philippine sensation Manny Pacquiao.

The Kentucky Derby winner shocked the world with an incredible bolt from the back of the pack to stun a crowd of 153,563 race fans that paid a Derby record of $103.20 on a $2 bet with the exacta paying $2,074.80. Nice day at the Office!

In another surprising note, Manny Pacquiao (49-3-2, 37 KO), the 2-1 favorite, shocked the boxing world and the British fighter with two stunning knockdowns in the first round. The end came early for Hatton when the Pac-Man dropped Hatton (45-2) with a devastating left hook right on the old kisser that rendered the Englishman unconscious for a few scary moments.

It wasn't shocking that Pacquiao won his highly publicized match with the British Bulldog but it was in the manner of his surprising power of his fists and overwhelming ring domination of the Englishman, who by the way, was saved twice by the referee's slow actions in the first round. The fight should have ended in the first round.

The Pac Man can now lay claim to being the best "pound-for-pound" fighter in the world – or can he? It was perfect timing or maybe a stroke of good public relations that undefeated Floyd Mayweather Jr. announced his return to the ring, after 11-months of retirement, to fight Juan Manuel Marquez in Las Vegas on July 18th.

Last week HBO executive's press release stated that the company was going to cut back their number of Pay-for-View telecasts from 8-12 to maybe 3 to 4 a year because of the tight economy and a glutted of other PPV sporting events that have flooding the market. HBO's new strategy will be more free telecasts but you can bet your bottom dollar that in December a "Pacquiao vs. Mayweather" fight won't be a freebee.

NBA Playoffs

Is it my imagination or is NBA basketball starting to look like a good old fashion hockey game? The fellows are starting to mix it up a little bit under the baskets at both ends of the court. I guess after a season of watching the Kings try and play some inspirational basketball the excitement of watching two teams really go after each other is kind of exciting.

The first round of the playoffs has so far featured five near team brawls, four cut eyebrows, three fat lips, two broken noses and partridge in a pear tree. You got to love this game!

My predictions for the first round were right on the money but the second round is really going to be a little more difficult because most of the weakest teams have been eliminated. The only match up I missed was Boston's seven game win over the relentless Bulls.

In the second round, the Orlando Magic might get a break and catch the defending champion Celtics with weak legs and it's obvious that Boston really misses Kevin Garnett to control the paint. I smell an upset, so I'll take Orlando in six games.

The other Eastern Conference match-up is really another mismatch with league MVP King James and his Cavs using the same broom that they used on Detroit and sweeping the Atlanta Hawks.

The Western Conference games will be much more interesting with the Lakers the odds-on favorite to win the Conference. The Denver Nuggets took care of the New Orleans with ease and should have no problem with the Dallas Mavs. Nuggets win in six games.

The Houston Rockets have some very good players and an experienced coach so an upset is not out of the question. The Rockets won game one of their best of seven series in Los Angeles on Monday night so that changes the home court advantage or maybe it will wake up the sleeping Lakers, who seem to be sitting on the bench waiting for Kobe to carry them to the next round. My brain says the Lakers should win the series but my "Kings heart" won't let me forget Robert Horry's three-pointer – Rockets win in six games!

Diamond Notes

The Oakland A's (9-14), who are struggling at the bottom of the West Division trailing the first place Mariners by 4 ½ games, have started their yearly recall of River Cats players to fill in for their aging and walking wounded.

The A's recalled relievers Jerry Blevins and Sean Gallagher to stop the bleeding in the bullpen. Oakland also called up left-hander Gio Gonzalez and infielders Eric Patterson and Gregorio Petit to fill in for the often injured infielders Mark Ellis and Nomar Garciaparra.

It doesn't help that their sluggers Matt Holiday is batting .223 in the clean-up spot and currently in a 6 for 39 slump and Jason Giambi is chipping in a meagerly .213 average.

The Giants (12-12) news continues to get better with wins at home and the return of their million dollar man Barry Zito. Zito (0-2) almost won his first game of the season but had another terrific outing. Zito has allowed three runs in 21 innings at home compared to last season's 3-11 season with 5.93 ERA.

The Giants, who are 10-4 at home, won their fifth consecutive home series to start the season after posting losing home records in three of the last four seasons. The Giants are in Chicago this week followed by a trip two-game trip to Colorado and Los Angeles while the A's are home playing Texas and the Toronto Blue Jays this weekend.

River Cats

The River Cats (15-9), who were on the road battling the inclement weather, return to the friendly confines of Raley Field to open up a four-game series against Reno Aces, the former Tucson Sidewinders.

The Gatos are showing some power at the plate especially with Sean Doolittle, who became the first River Cat to record a multi-home run game this season. River City has 17 home runs and ranks fifth in the league in round trippers.

The Cats are also showing some speed around the base path and have stolen 25 bases this season which already more than tripled their April total from last season of eight. Cliff Pennington stole his fifth and sixth of the season Sunday and Eric Patterson, who stole home plate last Tuesday at Raley Field. Patterson had nine steals before being called up to the A's. Eric's appearance on the bases will pump some new life into the Oakland's scoring opportunities.

Enjoy your day – see ya next week!

RCHS tennis team:

LEAGUE CHAMPS

For the fourteenth consecutive season and the sixteenth overall, the River City High School Tennis Team has won a league championship. After blanking Sacramento Country Day 9 to 0 last week, the Raiders improved to 15 and 0 in the Capital Valley Conference (CVC), two ahead of second place West Campus with just one contest remaining. "We don't get tired of winning," said RC Coach Dave Brooks. "We want to play hard, have fun, and win, and we're proud to continue the tradition of championship level tennis at River City."

The Raiders were led by singles players Thomas Thao (#2 boys) and Marisa Arellano (#2 girls) who both shut out their opponents 6-0, 6-0. In the top singles spots, Jim Saetern won 6-1, 6-2 and Lydia Maystruk triumphed 6-0, 7-5. RC also received doubles wins from the teams of Phi Dinh and Rudy Maltez (10-3 at #1 boys), Sarah Aguilar and Monica Anaya (10-1 at #1 girls), and Trevor Langford and Lai Saetern (10-1 in mixed). The Cavaliers were shorthanded and had to forfeit the #2 doubles matches to RC's Tuyet Hoang and Katharina Najork, and to Vongsri Vang and Victor Vang.

The Raiders will play their final CVC contest against Rio Linda to wrap up the regular season this week before heading to the league's singles and doubles tournament. The Sac-Joaquin Section Division III team playoffs begin next Tuesday, May 12th as RC will host the second place team from the Golden Empire League at 3:30pm in a first round match. The Raiders are now 20 and 1 overall in 2009.

GUEST COMMENTARY

'You made my book'

The good, the bad & the ugly

Sometimes you just can't win. It happens whenever I have to choose a line to stand in for any activity. It must be my karma.

Standing in line or otherwise known as "queuing up" is an activity that I just have no luck in doing. For example: I choose the shortest line at the grocery store only to find out that the person in front of me needs assistance in finding a specific item to purchase. Another person doesn't have enough money to pay for the items selected and has to take time to decide which items to put back. Then there is the man or woman ahead of me, who doesn't know how to use the credit card, automated system and needs assistance to check out. My luck is no better at the 10 items-or-less checkout stand. Usually, the person ahead of me ignored the sign and has 20 or more items. Another person will hold up the line because they can't find an item, and we all wait while a store employee retrieves it.

I have the same problems in Costco, Home Depot, Lowe's and other large specialty stores. I go to the new do it yourself check out and the machine, I chose, doesn't work. I go to the shortest line at the bridge tollbooth and the person before me holds everyone up asking directions to Byron or Benica. I just don't have any luck "queuing up." How many times have I gone to the post office and felt smug that I came at a time when there were only two people ahead of me. It turns out that one of the people is purchasing five different money orders and the second person is mailing six packages out of the country.

"People are working hard to, 'A,' save other jobs, and 'B,' to make sure the work gets done," said McGowan.

Besides cuts from the state, the county is also paying for its own historic land use policies, he added. The county has "done the right thing" by avoiding development of open space areas between the cities. But keeping the open space and farmland comes at a cost. More development in unincorporated parts of Yolo would provide the county with funds.

"Because we have not developed in the unincorporated areas, we do not see the property tax revenues from those properties, nor do we get sales tax dollars," he said. "We've done the right thing for land use, but it's costing us."

Yolo County is exploring a new way to promote development while sticking to "Smart Growth" principals, he said. The county may proceed with a new development near Dunnigan if it can make the planned jobs/housing balance there "pencil out." There also could be new development near Elkhorn Station (between Woodland and West Sacramento). And the county is encouraging farmers — such as those in Clarksburg — to seek ways to add value to their operation. Grape growers may also become wineries, and bed & breakfast establishments are possible, he said.

"We're working hard to make more money off of agriculture along the way," said McGowan.

Also at yesterday's board meeting, the supervisors written declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. For sales information: Mon-Fri 9:00am to 4:00pm (619) 590-1221. Cal-Western Reconveyance Corporation, 525 East Main Street, P.O. Box 22004, El Cajon, CA 92022-9004 Dated: April 28, 2009. (R-229595 04/29/09 05/06/09 05/13/09)

I want a window table overlooking the river when we go out to eat and the party before me is seated at the last remaining window table. Wait in line for a celebrity autograph and the guy in front of me gets the last one. Once, my wife and I went to Apple Hill. Now, my wife really likes apple fritters. We stopped at a farm and bakery. Two people are in the line ahead of us. We get up to the window to place our order, only to hear the woman behind the counter tell the person in front us "boy are you lucky, you bought the last three remaining apple fritters." When it was our turn, we were told, "Sorry sir, we just sold our last three and we are totally sold out." All I can say is "queuing up" makes my book every time!

It is nice to see our parks and recreation facilities being used throughout the city. Baseball, soccer and cricket are now being played in parks throughout West Sacramento. More people seem to be out working in their gardens, improving their lawns and in general enjoying the spring season. I've seen people on bikes, motorcycles, and other conveyances out and about. I've also seen power walkers and joggers using our streets and sidewalks. The mix of different age groups, cultures and ethnic populations in our city is obvious. Our unique "melting pot" makes West Sacramento a great place to live. It makes me feel good to see all of these people out and about, enjoying life, the city and our environment. West Sacramento, You've Made the Book.

voted 5-0 to kill a plan to create a "re-entry" facility for felons near the town of Madison. The proposal - at a location opposed by many neighbors and by their supervisor, Duane Chamberlain - would have offered programs to those serving the last year of their sentence and due to be released within Yolo County. It would not have hosted violent offenders or sex offenders, he said, and would have brought $30 million in state money to help expand Yolo's jail.

"We were always concerned about the neighbors' issues. . . but we never even got to them," said McGowan. "The state just never stepped up. The board is quite frustrated and irritated with the Department of Corrections."

CHANGE OF NAME IN 'BRODERICK' POST OFFICE HELD OVER FOR CONSIDERATION

NORTON FUNERAL AN EXAMPLE OF WIDESPREAD ESTEEM FOR A YOUNG MAN

The Washington Improvement Club at its regular meeting last Tuesday evening held over for consideration the resolution passed at a previous meeting, relating to a change in the name of the post office at Washington.

No reply has been received from Congressman Curry as to what aid he could extend in helping the Club to secure a new name that would be applicable to the town and the district.

It was very evident that there is not a unanimous sentiment in regard to this change for any change but on the contrary it has been rumored that a petition would be circulated asking that no change be made in the name of the post office.

At the meeting it was expressed that while the name "Broderick" is not very agreeable, it is not distasteful.

What occasions the adverse sentiment is the fact that the district is known as Washington, the town is known as Washington and Washington is the legal name on documents pertaining to property rights and so forth.

On account of the post office being named Broderick, many people know the town under that name, and so call it on all occasions.

Then again, because it is across the river from Sacramento and in Yolo County many people know the town and the district as "Yolo" and so call it.

It is this conglomeration of names which mitigates against the district and is disagreeable to the property owners of the town, occasioning frequent delay in mail delivery and much mail misssent to other points.

Against the name of Broderick the people have no opposition, except insofar that it does not apply to the locality in a historical or any other sense. While the people desire very much to have the name of the post office "Washington" because Washington, Nevada County, has a prior right that cannot be questioned.

Everybody is proud of Yolo, that is Yolo County, and have no objection whatever in that direction. The principal cause of complaint comes from the varied and indifferent names that apply to the district.

Action on this matter will be taken up at a later meeting when word is received from Congressman Curry relating to his efforts in behalf of the people who want a change.

At the meeting last Tuesday night it was reported by the Acting President, Mrs. McNevin, that an offer had been made for the piano which is in the Town Hall and which was purchased by the Improvement Club at a price of $125.

Mrs. McNevin reported that an offer had been made to her in the amount of $125 for the piano if it was for sale.

The Club deferred action until a later meeting when more members would be present.

There is a probability that another piano may be moved into the meeting hall of the building and two instruments would be only a detriment rather than a benefit in the hall.

This question will be decided by the Improvement Club at its next meeting.

The piano above mentioned and which was purchased by the Improvement Club a few years ago and a great convenience to the people of the town who held entertainments in the hall. It was considered a part of the outfit and saved a great deal of expense in drayage when a piano was required at meetings.

On the arrival of the remains of Almer Norton from Portsmouth, Va., last Tuesday, arrangements for his funeral were completed and the interment took place this afternoon in the Odd Fellows Cemetery in Sacramento.

Word was received yesterday from Colonel Karmany at Mare Island that six brother officers would attend the funeral to act as pall bearers, with Sergeant B. C. Paine in charge of the Company.

The funeral took place at 2:30 p. m., too late for the Independent to get all of the details at this writing.

Word had been sent by Governor W. D. Stephens to the boy's parents that if they so desired he would be given a public funeral like that which was held yesterday at the State Capitol over the remains of Lieutenant Newton. This was refused because the Norton family did not wish all this notoriety, especially on an occasion when their hereavement was so great.

Arrangements were made yesterday by the ladies of Washington to entertain Norton's brother officers who attended the funeral in the shape of a luncheon at their arrival at 12:30.

Surely public sympathy has gone out for the death of this young man and has been extended to his parents as was seldom seen before. The Independent is in receipt of the following from a schoolmate of Norton, who is now located at Kelley Field, Texas, expressing his sorrow on this occasion:

"With the Colors,"
Kelly Field, Aug. 4, 1918.
Mr. P. A. Fitzgerald,
Editor of Yolo Independent.
Dear Sir:

As an old and life long chum of Almer Norton, and also a resident of Washington for every year of my 24 years of existence, I hope you find space enough in my home town paper for these few lines which follow. I am in the Aviation Section of the Army at Kelly Field, Texas. Hoping you can grant this favor to a soldier who has lost his best chum, I remain, yours obligingly,
PERCY C. EUGENE,
Sec. 1, Sub. Sec. C., Kelly Field, Texas.

My heart is broken, I am greatly grieved,
To see your son, my old pal, leave,
But yet 'tis sweet, and great to know
Our Lord has called him, to where great men go.
His worth, here on earth, has been greatly proved,
So to the larger tasks, has he been removed.
The Lord needed a new leader, and to one came the good fortune,
And that one he chose, was our dear
Almer Norton.
So cast off your griefs, dear parents,
I beseech you,
For on that great day, will he certainly meet you,
And then it will be, that we all shall see,
Why our choicest and best are called to their rest.
He answered the call of his country,
He answered the call of God,
So now he's a leader in Heaven,
Wielding his golden rod.
—An Old Schoolmate.
The Norton family is also in receipt of the two following expressions of sympathy.

Washington, August 3, 1918.
Dear Sir:

I beg to express to you my sincerest and heartfelt sympathy in the sorrow occasioned by the death of your son, the late Sergeant Almer Norton, U. S. Marine Corps, which occurred at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Norfolk, Virginia, on July 28, 1918.

Your son, although but a short time in the service, had demonstrated his soldierly qualities and earned very rapid promotion as a non-commissioned officer. He was held in high regard by his superior officers who had recently recommended his assignment to the Officers Training Camp at Quantico, Virginia.

I trust that the burden of your grief will be ameliorated by the thought that your son died while in the service of his country.

Very respectfully,
GEORGE BARNETT,
Major General Commandant.

Sacramento, August 7, 1918.
Mr. and Mrs. William Norton,
Washington, California.
Dear Friends:

The members of the Sacramento City Board of Education express deep sympathy to you for the loss of your dear son, Almer, who so cheerfully gave his best to his country but who was unable to fulfill his mission because he was called by Him who rules even the fall of the sparrow.

In sympathizing with you, we are reminded of the active work done by your son while in attendance at the Sacramento City High School. He excelled as an athlete, as well as being an exemplary student.

We regret that the High School faculty is on vacation and that our cadets are absent—these friends would so gladly serve during these days of bereavement.

With sincere sympathy, we are,
Respectfully yours,
EDWARD HAYNES,
D. CARMICHAEL,
THOS. COULTER,
G. C. SIMMONS,
GUS. TURNER.

Guest Commentary:

Honor 'Mother Earth,' too

This Mother's Day, why not honor your mother and Mother Earth in the same endeavor? Waste Management reminds its communities to think about both mothers when buying gifts for this Mother's Day.

Mother's Day is often associated with gifts of flowers, cards, clothing, perfumes and candy. Waste Management urges local consumers to think "green" by considering more durable and sustainable alternatives for their Mother's Day gift giving. After all, when traditional gifts end up taking up more space in a landfill, it's Mother Earth who takes the hit. So this Mother's Day, give Mother Earth a break and give your mother a sustainable gift.

"Gifts are a tradition for most holidays and special occasions, so if you're buying, pause to think before you purchase. Think about what resources were used to make and package the item and how long you think it will last after Mother's Day," said Justin Caporusso, Spokesperson for Waste Management. "There are a number of gestures you can make to celebrate the holiday without generating additional waste ... it truly is easy to think green." Here are some "green" alternatives to traditional Mother's Day gifts:

Instead of fresh cut flowers, give potted plants, flowers or trees that can be transplanted into a garden.

(If you do give fresh cut flowers, be sure to place them in green waste container for recycling once they are ready to be disposed)

Instead of Mother's Day Cards, send e-mail greetings or a photo with your message written on the back. If you purchase a paper card, look for one made of recycled materials. Remind your mom to recycle it if she doesn't plan to keep it.

Beware of giving perfume/lotions. Wastewater treatment plants and septic systems are not designed to handle many of the chemicals used in products today. Consequently, many chemicals could escape into the environment. Read the fine print on labels and purchase natural products, when possible. Check to see if the packaging can be recycled or reused once empty.

When choosing clothing as a gift, check the labels and consider carefully clothes that require dry cleaning. When looking for clothing that reduces wear and tear on the earth, consider natural and organic cotton, wool and even bamboo.

"On any gift-giving occasion we always encourage giving gifts that aren't disposable - whether it's a durable, reusable gift, a gift card or an activity," Caporusso said. "By thinking creatively you can come up with the perfect gift for your mother, and Mother Earth - let your mom know you were thinking of both!"

Letters to the Editor

Yes on Prop 1F

I plan to vote 'no' on propositions 1A through 1E and 'yes' on 1F. We should also change the state's 2/3 budget rule to a mere majority, like 47 other states; convince federal lawmakers that if big-businesses want to make money here, they should pay their fair share of taxes; provide FTB with more auditors and audit all tax returns; all lobbyists should disclose their identity, who they represent, their income, expenses and resources; re-regulate public utilities; and excessive CEO pay should be prohibited.

The Yolo County Children's Alliance and

Child Abuse Prevention Council thanks everyone who supported its child abuse prevention luncheon on April 9. Attendees were treated to a delicious lunch catered by Edible Events and reminded of the importance of getting involved to help vulnerable children live in safe homes. Natasha Baker gave a moving talk about the events leading to her becoming a foster child and what a difference her foster, then later adoptive, family made in her life.

KOVR-TV news anchor Sam Shane reminded attendees about the importance of spending time with our children and especially reading to them. He also noted that reporters are personally affected when covering stories involving child abuse.

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEW BY DNA SMITH

PICK OF THE WEEK

"Taken" — Written and produced by Luc Besson ("The Professional," "La Femme Nikita," "The Transporter"). "Taken" is a fast-paced adventure thriller. Liam Neeson stars as Bryan Mills, an ex-CIA operative who has given up a life of danger and intrigue in order to spend more time with his family. Things go higgledy-piggledy, however, when his teenage daughter is kidnapped by white slavers, and Mills is thrust into the mission of his life — finding and rescuing his little girl. If "Taken" were made 20 years ago, it probably would have starred Harrison Ford ("Gimmie Back My Daughter!").

The action scenes are well-done, and thanks to Neeson's superb acting chops, what could have been a series of laughable plot holes and situations are made believable. Although the film isn't at the same level of quality as, say, "Casino Royale" or the "Bourne" movies, "Taken" is well worth a look.

DOG OF THE WEEK

"Underworld: Rise of the Lycans" — Whoof! What is that SMELL? Oh, it's just "Underworld: Rise of the Lycans," the third (and sadly probably not the last) in this series of movies depicting the centuries-old feud between vampires and werewolves. For hundreds of years, the Lycans (werewolves) have been oppressed by the vampires, who are ruled by Viktor (Bill Nighy). But a deliverer named Lucian (Michael Sheen) has rallied the werewolves to take on Viktor and his fetish-leathered crew.

Helping Lucian is a vampire named Sonja (Rhona Mitra), so what could've been an awesome flick about vampires and werewolves stomping the bejabbers out of each other instead gets bogged down by a lame story about Forbidden Love. And I do mean bogged down. The characters spend waaayyy too much time yapping and not enough time whomping. Seriously. Avoid this movie. It's boring and tedious and awful and will give you lupus.

The 10 Commandments of Common Sense
by Hal Urban (Fireside Books, $13)
Reviewed by Chris Richcreek

Some Christians will have a hard time fully embracing Hal Urban's "The 10 Commandments of Common Sense: Wisdom From the Scriptures for People of All Beliefs," recently released in paperback.

Some won't like the fact that Urban attends both Catholic and Protestant worship services. Others won't be able to agree with his dislike of politics being preached from the pulpit. Then there's the fact that he doesn't like a preacher making disparaging remarks about another faith.

But for those who don't take offense at the aforementioned, a great book awaits, one that can challenge a reader by offering practical wisdom based on scriptural teachings.

Urban breaks down his 10 commandments to two sets of five: Things you should avoid doing because they can hurt others or yourself, and things you should do because they can enrich others and yourself. Among the 10 are: not falling in love with possessions, not judging other people, having impeccable integrity and, perhaps the most important one, doing everything in love.

The commandments are not difficult concepts, but they are a challenge to fully embrace — especially, as Urban points out, the one about doing everything in love. He gives plenty of examples for the commandments based on his teaching career and his interactions with others.

The book certainly gives a reader much to ponder in today's unsettled world. David Niven, the author of "The 100 Simple Secrets of Happy People," offers perhaps the best description of Urban's book, calling it "simple but profound." At the very least, "The 10 Commandments of Common Sense" is worth checking out, whether you fully agree with the author or not.

neglected broccoli or cauliflower or that bunch of limp herbs is rejuvenated in this zesty brine. It also provides me with a new way to present a colorful array of vegetables at the dinner table.

I love the way that brining with salt and spices seasons ordinary meats and vegetables. The combination of salt, black pepper and sugar provides a spicy, sultry burst of flavor that tickles your tongue. If you're a foodie, salt is sexy.

Sexy Salt

Salt has been used since ancient times and in many ways, from a condiment and a preservative to a valuable form of currency. Roman soldiers were paid in salt. The English word for salary is derived from the Latin word salarium, which means "payment in salt." Salt was once so difficult to obtain that it was the catalyst for several wars.

Now everything old is new again, and salt is no exception. Sea salt, which is, well, as old as the sea, has become a fashionable, trendy ingredient. It's the reigning queen of the culinary world, and that popularity has increased its price. Sea salt is imported from around the world and comes in a flavorful assortment of vibrant colors, including French gray, Peruvian pink, Hawaiian red and Indian black.

Combining salt with water and spices to make a brining solution is a delicious way to add flavor to your meal preparation. Brining meats provides moisture by hydrating the cells of the meat's muscle tissue. That's why brining turkey and chicken makes the meat so moist. Brining is also used during the cheese-making process, and as a preservative for a variety of vegetables.

My vegetable bin often contains what I call "sad" vegetables. Perhaps the cucumbers or the celery aren't as crisp, or there's one or two unloved radishes or carrots left over. Brining the vegetables gives them a savory flavor, a vibrant color and preserves them. My slightly wrinkled mushrooms, squash or eggplants, the

- 1/2 cup fat-free mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup no-fat sour cream
- 3 cups diced cooked sweet potatoes

In a large bowl, combine undrained pineapple, mayonnaise and sour cream. Add sweet potatoes, celery, walnuts and raisins. Mix gently to combine. Cover and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes. Gently stir again just before serving. Makes 8 (1/2 cup) servings.

1/3-inch-thick slices. Remove brine from heat and add cucumbers and radishes. Let stand, uncovered, 10 minutes, then drain in a colander, discarding garlic and pepper corns. Transfer cucumbers and radishes to a bowl of ice and cold water to cool, then drain well in colander.

Toss cucumbers and radishes with parsley, oil and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt in a large bowl and chill, uncovered, about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Notice of Public Hearing to Receive Public Comments on Submission of an Application for Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP) Funding

The West Sacramento City Council will conduct a public hearing on May 13, 2009 at 7:30 p.m. to review opportunities for NSP funding from the State of California, an NSP Program Income Reuse Plan that governs the use of income received from projects assisted with NSP funding and program guidelines.
The City of West Sacramento proposes to apply for up to $1,047,543 under the NSP
Allocation for the following activities which will benefit households with incomes at or below 120% of area median income (middle-income):

1. The establishment of financing mechanisms for the purchase and redevelopment of foreclosed homes and residential properties, including soft-second loans, loan loss reserves and shared equity loans for income eligible homebuyers; and 2. The purchase and rehabilitation of homes and residential properties that have been abandoned or foreclosed upon, in order to sell, rent, or redevelop such homes and properties.

The City of West Sacramento
proposes to target NSP funded activities to census tracts 101.01 and 101.02; however funds may be used citywide.

In addition to the funding noted above, the State has set aside NSP funds to be used for eligible activities serving households at or below 50% of area median income (very low-income). It is also possible that additional NSP funding may become available for middle-income households.

If additional monies become available for middle or very low-income households, the City of West Sacramento will apply for up to the maximum available for activities 1 and 2 located in the targeted census tracts noted above.

Interested persons are invited to attend. The hearing will be held at the City of West Sacramento Civic Center, second floor, 1110 West Capitol Ave., West Sacramento, California 95691. In compliance with the ADA, if you need assistance to participate in this meeting, you should contact the City Clerk at (916) 617-4500. Notification 72 hours prior to the meeting will enable the City to make reasonable accommodations to assure accessibility at the meeting. The Civic Center is handicapped accessible.

If you are unable to attend the public hearing, you may direct written comments prior to the date of the hearing to: City of West Sacramento, Housing and Community Investment, 1110
West Capitol Ave., West
Sacramento, CA 95691.
Information may be obtained, or a public file on NSP activities may be reviewed, at the above address between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on weekdays. The Housing and Community Investment
Department can be contacted at (916) 617-4555 or by email at hci@cityofwestsacramento.org.

all programs available to low-and moderate-income households regardless of age, race, color, religion, sex, national origin, sexual preference, marital status or disability.

Aviso de Audiencia Pública para Presentar una Solicitud para
Fondos del Programa de Estabilización de Vecindarios (NSP, por sus siglas en inglés)

El Consejo Municipal de la
municipalidad de West Sacramento llevará a cabo una audiencia pública el 13 de mayo del 2009 a las 7:30 p.m. para considerar los fondos del NSP del estado de California, una Program Income Reuse Plan de CDBG que controla el uso de ingresos recibidos de proyectos que previamente fueron asistidos con fondos de CDBG y una Guía del Programa. La municipalidad de West Sacramento propone solicitar hasta 1,047,543 dólares bajo la Asignación del NSP para las actividades siguientes, las cuales beneficiarán a familias cuyos ingresos no excedan el 120% del ingreso promedio del
área (ingresos medios):

1. Establecer
mecanismos de financiamiento para la compra y reurbanización de viviendas ejecutadas y propiedades residenciales, incluyendo segundas hipotecas, reservas de pérdida de préstamo
y préstamos hipotecarios sobre el capital en la propiedad para compradores de vivienda elegibles; y
2. La compra y la rehabilitación de viviendas y propiedades residenciales que han sido abandonadas o ejecutadas, para vender, alquilar, o reurbanizar estas viviendas y propiedades;

La municipalidad de West Sacramento propone enfocarse los fondos del NSP en las zonas del censo 101.01 y 101.02. Sin embargo, los fondos se pueden usar en toda la ciudad.

Además de los fondos previamente mencionados, el estado ha apartado fondos del NSP que se utilizarán para actividades elegibles que ayuden a familias cuyos ingresos no excedan el 50% del ingreso promedio del área (ingresos muy bajos). También es posible que fondos adicionales del NSP puedan estar disponibles para familias con ingresos medios.

Si fondos adicionales para familias de ingresos muy bajos o medios están disponibles, la
municipalidad de West Sacramento solicitará hasta el máximo disponible para las actividades 1 y 2 previamente mencionadas en las zonas del censo previamente mencionadas.

interesadas asistir a la audiencia pública. La audiencia pública se llevará a cabo en la Cámara del
